POC Position: Col Robert P. Manning/DSN 576-7258

Position Description (Duty Description): We are currently accepting applications for Director Mobility Forces (DIRMOBFOR) Initial Training. This course prepares selected total-force senior officers to manage, monitor, and coordinate air mobility forces that deploy in support of an exercise, contingency, war, natural disaster, or humanitarian relief operation. Candidates should be Colonel with a high degree of air mobility expertise.
The DIRMOBFOR is a senior mobility officer who is familiar with the area of responsibility and possesses extensive background in air mobility operations. The Commander, Air Force forces (COMAFFOR) may appoint a DIRMOBFOR to function as a coordinating authority between the Joint Task Force (JTF), 618 Air Operations Center (AOC), theater AOC, the Geographic Combatant Commander’s (GCC) J-4, and the Joint Mobility Center (JMC)/Joint Deployment Distribution Operations Center (JDDOC) to ensure the appropriate prioritization of inter-theater requirements in support of intra-theater air mobility taskings. The DIRMOBFOR may be sourced from within the GCC’s organizations or US Transportation Command (USTRANSCOM). The DIRMOBFOR provides advice to the Air Mobility Division (AMD) on air mobility matters that should be responsive to the timing and tempo of AOC operations.

Typical candidates are active duty and Air Reserve Component (ARC) wing commanders, vice wing commanders, operations group commanders, and operations group deputy commanders. After completing DIRMOBFOR Initial Training, candidates are expected to support JCS exercises and real-world requirements. Air Mobility Command typically supports 6-8 JCS exercises and several real-world requirements per year.
