COURSE LIST

SCHOOL	AIRMAN LEADERSHIP SCHOOL (ALS)
COURSE DESCRIPTION	Resident ALS Course  ALS is an Air Force education program held at base level to prepare SrA (or SSgts assessed from sister service) for positions of greater responsibility. The course teaches leadership skills required of supervisors and reporting officials throughout the Air Force. ALS enhances the development of Airmen by strengthening their ability to lead, follow, and manage while they gain a broader understanding of the military profession. The principal instructional method is guided discussion, in which students share ideas, experiences, and work together to achieve various educational objectives. Formative evaluations are an integral part of the ALS curriculum and serve as feedback tools for the student and instructor. Summative objective and performance evaluations are used to determine whether the educational requirements outlined in the course are met. Students must satisfactorily accomplish all lesson objectives, including those pertaining to Fit-to-Fight, drill and ceremonies using the criteria outlined in the course curriculum. Blended Learning Class (BLC)  ALS BLC is a combined distance learning and resident course option for ANG Airmen, consisting of two phases. Phase I is a five-week facilitated distance learning class, with weekly assignments due. Phase II is a two-week hands-on experience at McGhee ANGB, TN.
